

WHAT'S GOOD FOR THE SOUL IS GOOD FOR BUSINESS

How do you attract loyal customers, retain top talent, build a positive brand image and thrive as a business? In a word: Empathy.

Every problem that exists in the business world, from poor management to unhappy consumers to failed products, can be traced back to a single, common origin: lack of empathy. When we are unwilling to place ourselves in someone else's shoes and understand another point of view, we are unable to solve problems or find solutions. This impacts our professional reputation, team's productivity, customer's experience and organization's performance.

Transform your business with an Empathy Edge

In an inspiring session tailored for your business, brand strategist and speaker Maria Ross – author of the The Empathy Edge: Harnessing the Value of Compassion as an Engine for Success – puts actionable empathy in the hands of you and your team. She'll offer practical tips for how to use empathy to shape your leadership style, workplace culture and branding strategy, resulting in happier customers, enhanced employee performance and increased profits.

You will learn:

How empathy boosts your bottom line while making an impact, the data to back it up and the steps to take to lead your team with purpose and profit.

- 5 ways that empathetic leadership, culture, and brand benefit your organization's bottom line.
- Five habits you can put into practice RIGHT NOW to transform your team and brand as a positive force in the world.
- How to avoid the "empathy veneer." The three levels your organization must address to truly walk your talk, and the crucial role you can play to kick this into motion.
